Recommended procedure for winches not in regular use

As with all engines, leaving your winch standing for prolonged periods can lead to corrosion in the engine and ultimately failures, especially in damp, salty, or adverse environments.

Particularly with Clubs using more than one winch, it can be that a winch is left unused for months at a time and this is not good for the engine.

Skylaunch recommend starting and running up the engine for a few minutes at least every 2 weeks to help prevent premature corrosion.

Also if the winch has not been used for 1 month we recommend towing the cables out and back in to exercise the drive and brakes.
